

Title I Parents Right to Know Statement

Under federal law, parents of students attending Title I schools have the right to know information on the professional qualifications of the student's teacher, including:

1. Whether the teacher meets the state qualifications and licensing criteria for the grades and subjects he or she teaches.
2. Whether the teacher is teaching under emergency or provisional status because of special circumstances.
3. Whether the teacher has any advanced degrees and the field of discipline of the teacher's certification or degree.
4. Whether the child receives services from a paraprofessional and the qualifications of the paraprofessional.
5. Each Title I school must provide timely notice to parents of any student that has been assigned, or has been taught for 4 or more consecutive weeks by, a teacher who does not meet applicable State certification or licensure requirements at the grade level and subject area in which the teacher has been assigned.

Under federal law, parents of students attending Title I schools have the right to request and be provided with information regarding any state or local educational agency policy regarding student participation in any assessments mandated by the state or local educational agency.

Contact the School Director for further information.
